

Pathophysiology of rare Anemia and Metabolites overload diseases

Supporting clinical research with high-quality basic research

The heart of this new team is the red blood cell, and we aim to determine and understand in depth the mechanisms involved in physiological and pathological erythroid differentiation, from the hematopoietic stem cell to the mature erythrocyte.